

Making Space for a MASTER'S DEGREE

Physical Space

Think about your ideal workspace. For each prompt below, fill in the choice that feels best.

- | | | | |
|---------------------------------|--------------------------------|----------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| <input type="radio"/> ORGANIZED | <input type="radio"/> QUIETER | <input type="radio"/> LARGER | <input type="radio"/> CLASSROOM
<input type="radio"/> HOME
<input type="radio"/> OTHER SPACE |
| <input type="radio"/> CLUTTERED | <input type="radio"/> LOUDER | <input type="radio"/> SMALLER | |
| <input type="radio"/> BRIGHT | <input type="radio"/> SOLITARY | <input type="radio"/> MINIMALIST | |
| <input type="radio"/> DIM | <input type="radio"/> COMMUNAL | <input type="radio"/> BUSY | |

Mental Space

Think about what changes you may need to make in your daily life to accommodate earning a degree. To get started, answer the 4 questions below.

1 (What time of day do I work best? How might I structure my day so I am able to work on degree work at that time?

2 (What are my biggest distractions? How can I keep them from interrupting me?

3 (Who in my life can I count on as my support system during this time?

4 (What is my emergency plan? When things get difficult, how can I make sure I can still get my work done?